

Mrs. Adelaide Hodgemen as "Patience" and Mrs. Rembrandt Peale, Jr., as "The Princess" in the futurist play given privately at the home of Mrs. Vincent Astor last week. The cast was composed of members of the Junior League. Paul Thompson.

Futurism in society—Mr. John Rogers in his costume as "The Singing Prince" in the production of "Cinderella" under the direction of Mrs. Fenton Taylor at the home of Mrs. Vincent Astor. Paul Thompson.

The Program girls at the society production of "Cinderella." Left to right: the Misses Audrey Barclay Ulman, Adele Kelley, Carolyn Prentice and Julia Brokaw. Paul Thompson.

The Talmadge girls welcomed in Los Angeles upon their arrival from Europe. Left to right in the group are Natalie Talmadge Keaton and her baby, Miss Margaret Leahy, the English prize beauty who is to be starred in American films; Norma Talmadge, Mayor Crisswell of Los Angeles and Constance Talmadge. Underwood & Underwood.

A Merry Christmas for the orphans—Mr. Edwin Gould and Mrs. George F. Shady at the opening of the home which Mr. Gould and his sister, Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, gave for an orphanage in Yonkers. The photo was made at an entertainment given by the children after the dedication. Wide World.

The "Ladies Lame Duck Club" is what these wives of Senators defeated in the recent elections dubbed themselves at a luncheon meeting of the Senate Women's Club in the capital. In the group are left to right: Mrs. Miles Poindexter, Mrs. C. E. Townsend, Mrs. Porter J. McCumber, Mrs. Carroll S. Page, Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, Mrs. Thos. R. Marshall, Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, Mrs. Gore, Mrs. Joseph I. France, Mrs. William M. Calder and Mrs. Nugent. Underwood & Underwood.

Above: The body of John Wanamaker surrounded by innumerable floral pieces, lying in state in the Bethany Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, where thousands of persons paid tribute to his memory. Pacific & Atlantic.

Above: Governor Henry T. Allen of Kansas, snapped at White Sulphur Springs during the Governors' conference on interstate matters. International.

Governor Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts in the miner's garb he donned to make an inspection of the underground workings of the Glen White coal mine at White Sulphur Springs during the Governors' conference. International.

This family has its own basketball team—the Pryor sisters, who play a fine game and are especially adept in team work. Any five of the six can take the floor as a team and the other serves as a substitute. From bottom to top in the group are: Helen, Catherine, Amanda, Sarah, Mary and Theresa Pryor. Fotograms.

A "Wall Street foursome" at Virginia Hot Springs—Mr. Thomas W. Lamont, noted financier, driving off on the links. The other players are left to right: Vernon Monroe, J. I. Howe and Dwight W. Morrow, Mr. Lamont's business partner, all of New York. Underwood & Underwood.